

Young soccer players of the World Cup Sports Initiative end their tour in Frankfurt. June 23, 2006.

File: medialoungegroup.WMV

Interviewer: Did you play in the game today?

Girl: Yes!

Interviewer: First of all: Your name, and where are you from?

Girl: I'm from Uzbekistan.

Interviewer: And how did the game go today?

Girl: Alright. I love it very much, especially as the boys won. They played with the Frankfurt kids and won, two to one.

Interviewer: Two to one. So, es gab ein Spiel mit einer Mannschaft aus (??), Scott?

Man: (inaudible) zwei deutsche Mannschaften.

Interviewer: Zwei Deutsche Mannschaften, und eine deutsche Mannschaft hat gewonnen und eine von unseren Jungenmannschaften hier hat gewonnen. Und weiter sozusagen, die Kinder, die kommen auf Afghanistan. Afghanistan? Wunderbar. Berühmte Mädels aus Afghanistan.

[Applause]

Interviewer: (inaudible) Dankeschön (inaudible) Bolivien? Schön. The team from Ecuador played very well yesterday, your neighbor country, Ecuador played really well. China. China? Indonesia? Indonesia? Lebanon. Lebanon? A beautiful country, Lebanon. Malaisia, Malaysia? Thanks for coming, glad to have you here! Marocco? Fantastic! Nigeria. Oh right, Nigeria! Your neighbor country Ghana has defeated the US yesterday in a great game. What happened to Nigeria? Why didn't Nigeria make it to the World Cup? They have a super team!

Boy: (inaudible)

Interviewer: Pardon me?

Boy: (inaudible)

Interviewer: Das kann ich nicht übersetzen.